There were six natives on board, two of whom were drowned, and four reached Lahaina. Several sheep and $150 in coin on board were also lost. The Sheriff, on learning of the accident, sent out a relief party, but no trace could be obtained of the boat or the missing natives.

A LITHOGRAPH.-A new blank certificate of life membership to the Queen's Hospital Society, has lately been received by Mr. Schaefer, the secretary. It is very bandsomely gotten up, and was lithograph ed by Britten and Rey of San Francisco, and bears in the centre the likeness of Kamehameha IV. To the left at the foot is the lithographed autograph of His Majesty Lunnillo as President; and the name of the secretary on the right.

CATTLE DRIVING .- Those having charge of driving cattle through the streets of Honolulu, should take every precaution to avoid accidents. On Monday a drove of cattle, coming in from Koolau, rushed down Nunana street near the cemetery, and came near causing a serious accident to a lady who was driving a horse and buggy up the road. "A miss is always as good as a mile;" still sceldents have and do often occur from these droves of cattle, and too much care cannot be taken to avoid them.

STOWAWATS.-When the Dakota was leaving on Friday, five sailors were found atowed in her hold. At 12 noon she started off, and when near Coco Head, snother man was discovered in her coal bin. The ship stopped, lowered a boat and sent him sahore. When the boat had approached near the shore, the sailor was told to jump over. He did so, but found the water deeper than he anticipated, and got a good ducking among the breakers. After floundering among them awhile he managed to get ashore, looking more like a drowned rat than a bold Arctic whaleman, which he proved to be.

NEW YORK, March 26.—It will be recollected that some months since the claim of Admiral Parragut, and his officers and men, for prize money for destruction of rebol vessels at the capture of New Orleans during the reboilion was referred to the arbitration of Ri W. Payne of Boston, N. V. Fox, formerly Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Thomas J. Durant of this city. On Friday the arbitrators filed a report awarding the sam of $250,000. They found that on the rebol vessels there were 1,343 mea, and they allow a claim of $200 for each man engaged on the enemy's boats.

ALL SAFE .- The schooner Luke, Captain Ballesand for the safety of which, lears have been enter tained, is reported by the brig William H. Allen all right at Tabiti. A letter from Capt, Ballastler to the owner of the echooner, J. I. Dowsett, Esq., gives a full report of his cruise. It seems that after coing to Starbuck Island, he made three trips, carrying stores, men, &c., to Caroline Island, a new guano deposit to be worked by the company owning the former Island. Mr. Thrum remains in charge of this new station, with fifty laborers. The vessel then went to Tabiti, which port she left March 25, for Huahine and Caroline Island, where the Captain has to lay a buoy, and then proceeds on to this port-Caroline Island lies due north of Tabiti, five days' sail, in about lat. 10 S., and W. long. 150. MR. DEMOREST'S ENTERTAINMENT. - The anouncement of the elecutionary entertainment given on Monday evening, drew out a good andlence, which nearly filled Buffum's Hall. The exercises consisted of dramatic readings and recitations, including Brutus and Casslus' dislogue, which was well rendered. It is a difficult task for one person to act the part of two disputants, especially such flery spirits as were these old Romans. But Mr. D. succeeded very well, and his frequent and sudden changes of voice and facial expression were remark-"Death Doomed," which followed, and "Wounded," in the second part, appeared to us rather overwrought. These three selections exhibited his powers as a dramatist, and they are certainly of no ordinary kind. His rendering of "Miss Maloney on the Chinese Question," exhibited well his talent as a humorist. Mr. Berger, on the plane, assisted by two or three of his band with cornets, served to give variety to the exhibition, and us usual discoursed the best of instrumental music. The comic songs of Mr. Morton and Mr. Evans, while very good in their way, appeared out of place here, and had a tendency to depreciate the performances of a talented dramatist. Mr. Demorest is a young man of pleasing manners, and possessed of true genius, who comes among us unhersided, and relying on his own abilities to please and delight his audience. We doubt not be will succeed; but would suggest that in his selection of pieces, he give more variety, and rely more on himself than on umateurs. By some improvement in the ventilation, the hall Monday evening was very cool and comfortable, and we advise those who wish to enjoy an evening's entertainment, to secure good seats for Saturday

A THANKSGIVING REUNION .- On Friday evening last (Good Friday,) a company of forty or fifty in vited guests assembled at the residence of Rev. Hiram Biugham, to congratulate him and his wife pletion of the translation and printing of the New Testament lo the Gilbert Island dialect. The Testament, copies of which were laid before the company, was printed by Messrs. Black & Auld, and bound by Mr. R. Newcomb. It is in twelve-mo size, and printed on clear, long primer type. The Reverend translator resid a historical sketch of his connection with the Gilbert Island Mission, from which we gather that he entered on his work in 1857, sixteen years ago, and in 1859 commenced the trans-lation of the New Testament, now completed. The Gilbert Island group stretches across the Equator, beand has a population of about 30,000, whose general characteristics resemble those of the Hawalians, Mr. Bingham had to commence his work by first reducing the language of the Gilbert Islanders to a written form, which of itself was no casy task. The Gospels and Acts were first translated and read to the people, then printed and distributed in the form of namphlets. The edition now completed, and to be bound up, consists of about four hundred copies of the entire Testament. At the close of his remarks, a handsomely bound copy was presented to the Hawaiian Board, through its Secretary, Rev. J. F. Pogue, and seven other copies to native Gilbert slanders who were present, and read and sang in shelr native tongue. One of these has been a valuable sesistant to Mr. R. in his work of translating. After these interesting exercises were over, Mr. Bingham invited the company to partake of a collation, to which forty five persons sat down. One of the pleasantest incidents of this thanksgiving reunion was the presence of His Majesty, King Lunafilo, who was accompanied by his Adjutant-General. His Majesty took a lively interest in the proceedings, and remarked to a gentleman that the gathering carried him back to old times, when he attended the Royal School, then kept by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke. Another incident was the presence of Mrs. Thurston, the only survivor of the original band of Missionaries who arrived here fitty-three years ago, and who still enjoys more vigor than many of her juniors.

The impending trades strikes in this city will, it is claimed, be even on a greater scale than it was last year. The struggle is not to be confined to one trade this time, for all under the line of building trades here had an understanding with the Eighthour League, and will strike for the same number of hours. The majority of the organizations strike ostensibly for the eight-hour movement. Carpenters and joiners ask for an increase of pay of two dollars per day. The United States Senate adjourned on the 25th of March. It had been taken up principally with the investigation of the bribery case of Senstor Caldwell of Kansas; who is said to have spent over one hundred thousand dollars to secure his election. When it became pretty certain that he would be expelled, he sent in his resignation, and this ended the case, though the Senate ought to have passed a resolution.

The Sueriff quietly signaled Dr. Tyng to finish as quickly as possible, and, advancing, shook Foster by the hand. Dr. Tyng then hade him larewell, and at 9:18 the signal was given, and Foster was jerked violently into the air. He was a heavy man, and his neck was broken. His heart ceased beating in rather less than twelve minutes from the time his weight fell, and in all probability he died without a pang.

THE GLADSTONE MINISTRY IN OFFICE AGAIN.

LONDON, March 20.—The House of Commons presented an mousual spectacle to-day, in anticipation of the important communication expected from Gladstone aunonneing the termination of the Ministerial crisis by his return. All the benches were critically that members, and the galleries were crowded with spectators. Among the distinguished persons present were Prince Arthur, the Duke of Cambridge and Prince Christian. Many members of the House of Lords attended the sitting.

As Gladstone and Disrael entered the House loud cheera were successively raised by their respective supporters. When Gladstone rose to make a statement the cheering was repeated, this time from all parts of the chamber. He said he was now able to acquaint the House of the fact that he and his colleagues in office, with Her Majesty's permission, were prepared to carry on the Government. Before he explained fully that it was only after the party opposite had unconditionally refused to form a Ministry that he and Ma Triends had consented to resume naffice, Gladstone added that the Queen had given him permission to read an extract from a statement him permission to read an extract from a sta he made to Her Majesty. It was to the effect that he did not suppose that the efforts of gentiemen of the opposition to defeat the Government were made he did not suppose that the efforts of gentlemen of the opposition to defeat the Government were made with a deliberate intention of refusing to organize the Cabinet if it should be required of them, but the summary refusal given when occasion arose he considered not fully in accord with the exigences of the case, nor with parliamentary usage. The Promier's statement was frequently interrupted by applause, which was warm and long continued. At its close Disraell explained the cours he had At its close Disraell explained the cours he had thought proper to pursue since the beginning of the crisis. He confessed that the differences between himself and the Irish Catholics were insurmountable. A new Cabinet would require until Easter to get into working order. Even then it would have get into working order. Even then it would have to deal with fluancial estimates made by its predecessor, and would probably be outvoted every night in Fariament. A dissolution of the House of Commons had been suggested; but why dissolve the sitting on the opposition bench? He and his friends had a difficulty in forming a policy on so short a notice, and it was not to be expected that they could appeal to the country without a policy on questions more important than the Irish University. There were many questions on which it had been desirable to mature a policy, even in opposition, such as the Central Asian difficulties, the new rules introduced into international law by the Geneva Board, the Central Asian cliniculties, the new thice instruments into laternational law by the Geneva Board, the payment of the Alabama claims, the commercial treaty with France, and others of equal magnitude. All things considered, he had felt at to be his duty to decline the responsibility of organizing the new Government. The Queen berself had suggested a dissolution of Parliment. He had declined to addissolution of Parliament. He had declined to advise such a step, and stated to her Majesty that in his opinion there was no adequate reason for the Government to resign, and that it might return to office without the slightest distonor, and with the greatest possible confidence of the public. At this point some Conservative members expressed their distribution in point some of the public of dissatisfaction in loud cries of "No! no!"

In the House of Lords, Granville announced the decision of the Government in a speech differing but little from that of Gladstone.
